

TATTLER

Schools Guide 2015

What happens when you combine the best of French and English education and house it in a cute-as-a-button Victorian hideaway in Battersea? You get one of the hottest, most oversubscribed preps in the capital (with a lot of thanks to M. Hollande). Fencing is the sport and the bilingual Shakespeare summer show is the hot ticket. Trips last year included a peek at the European Parliament in Brussels; pupils are sharp and, we're told, have keen views on the UK's role in Europe. But there is no room for little princes—Years 5 and 6 enjoy muddy weeks in Wales and Devon to learn about teamwork and hardship. Headmistress Frédérique Brisset says: 'Roughing it a bit does nobody any harm.' Leavers fly on to the Lycée Français in South Kensington, City of London, King's Wimbledon and Francis Holland.

Tel 0207 924 3186

Website lecoledespetsits.co.uk

Head Frédérique Brisset

Pupils 254 day 127 boys, 127 girls

Faith Non-demon Ages 3-11

Term fees £3505